

Forum RSS Feeds

It's now possible to subscribe to the forum's RSS feeds. This means that you can get new threads and new posts directly into your RSS feed software without having to check back at the forum everytime.

To get started, just click on the forum you are interested in, and then you'll see the RSS icon at the bottom of the forum (it's a small orange icon found on the right side at the bottom). Just click on that, and copy and paste the link in the URL bar into your software, or whatever you use to manage your RSS feeds.

If you have any problems with this, just post a comment here.